

Challenging Assumptions

Which ones are alive and well in your school?

1. School climate will fix itself.
2. There needs to be little alignment between the expectations for students and the expectations for adults.
3. Addressing negative adult behavior will cause more problems.
4. The successful implementation of PLCs has little connection to a positive school climate.
5. A mission statement does not impact practice or climate.