Arts integration is an effective strategy for cultivating positive climate and culture, as well as deepening student engagement. This six-part training series will immerse participants in the fundamental components of high-quality arts integration. In each highly participatory session, the knowledge and skills needed to move confidently from planning to implementation will be explored. Drawing upon the framework articulated in the New Jersey Arts Integration Think and Do Workbook, participants will identify realistic goals and develop concrete actions steps to guide their arts integration work. Whether new to the arts integration movement, or seeking an avenue to deepen your current practice, this series will provide rich opportunities for reflection and experiential, hands-on learning. Become part of this supportive learning community to begin, or expand upon, your arts integration efforts! All experience levels are welcome.

School and/or District teams that include administrators as well as arts and non-arts teachers are encouraged, but teams are not required.

The hybrid format will consist of two in-person, full-day workshops, and four 60 minute coaching webinars. Additional opportunities to connect digitally with members of this learning community will be available to the cohort throughout the series.

Fee: $450 per person includes two workshops and four webinars

Early bird price for the series: $399! (Early bird deadline Aug. 31, 2019)

This session would be an ideal in-district program to bring to your district.
