

Virtual Parent Roundtable Series

We're in this Together!

Educating Our Children
During COVID-19

Co-sponsored by NJPTA and NJPSA/FEA

Educating our children during the current pandemic proves to be a daily challenge as schools shift from in-person to hybrid to virtual learning environments. Throughout this crisis, families are juggling many responsibilities that they never envisioned. Join us for this series of roundtables designed specifically for parents/caregivers to come together and share their experiences and those of their children, identify critical issues and give voice to the needs of families so that supports can be identified and implemented.
